THE DARKNESS, WOLFMOTHER, LARKIN POE, AIRBOURNE AND GLENN HUGHES HEADLINE A HUGE LIVE ROCK MUSIC CELEBRATION IN ASSOCIATION WITH HARLEY-DAVIDSON, THIS JUNE

Budapest, Hungary, will host four days of live music at a festival featuring more than 50 bands across six stages to mark Harley-Davidson's 120th Anniversary in the heart of Europe. Dates: June 22-25, 2023. Tickets now available, from €25.

Oxford, UK (19 April, 2023) – A festival like no other! Get ready to rock as the Puskás Aréna Park in Budapest, Hungary, hosts a stellar live music line-up this June. Rock legends The Darkness, Wolfmother and Deep Purple's Glenn Hughes join artists hailing from all over Europe and as far away as Australia, the US and Canada for four nights of music in association with Harley-Davidson. The event marks a huge milestone in the iconic brand's history: it's 120th Anniversary.

Main stage headliners include Airbourne and Danko Jones on Thursday 22 June, Larkin Poe on Friday 23, Wolfmother, The Darkness and The Picturebooks on Saturday 24 and the legendary Glenn Hughes Performs Deep Purple on Sunday 25.

Saturday headliners The Darkness said: "The Darkness are both honoured and delighted to have been invited to celebrate the 120th anniversary of the mighty Harley-Davidson motorcycle company in Budapest on June 24. We will be sharing the stage with Wolfmother, Larkin Poe and a panoply of amazing artists. Come celebrate the iron horse with us before we head out for our summer shows in the UK and Scandinavia, and our Autumn World Tour to mark the 20th anniversary of our multi-platinum debut album, Permission to Land. Ladies and gentlemen, start your engines!"

Andrew Stockdale, lead singer of Wolfmother, said: "So stoked to be adding Budapest to this year's European tour on June 24, sharing the main stage with Airbourne, Glenn Hughes and heaps more rock acts during Harley-Davidson's 120th Anniversary celebrations in Europe."

As well as four nights of high-octane entertainment – with more than 50 bands performing across six stages – concert-goers can be part of the rest of Harley-Davidson's 120th Anniversary Festival activities too, with the same ticket. Attendees can check out a wide range of iconic motorcycles, from the latest 2023 models to classic and vintage two-wheelers, plus classic cars, adrenaline activities, theme park rides, and a wide range of local and international food and drinks options.

The Harley-Davidson 120th Anniversary Festival promises to be one of the continent's major music and moto festivals in 2023. With one day tickets from just €25 and four-day tickets from just €67, including all music acts, don't miss it! Hotel offers are still available too, with official accommodation deals at lower prices than you'll find them on hotel comparison sites.

Join Harley-Davidson this June to experience a celebration like no other.

Band bios

Airbourne

Hailing from Victoria, Southern Australia, Airbourne is a hard rock quartet that takes no prisoners, with driving electric riffs that hark back to rock's very roots and critics comparing them to AC/DC. Their fifth album, Boneshaker, reached the top 30 album charts in multiple countries and the band are currently working on a new album, to be released in 2023.

Danko Jones

Canadian rock legends Danko Jones have a reputation for outstanding live shows, with touring credits in 36 countries on six continents, playing alongside acts like Beck, Mötörhead and Guns N' Roses. Their 10th studio album Power Trio was released in August 2021, and included the single 'I Want Out', which ranked #1 in the German Rock Radio Charts.

The Darkness

The Darkness need very little introduction for rock fans – this four-piece from England, fronted by vocals and guitarist Justin Hawkins and his brother Dan on lead guitar, have released a string of classic hits and played countless sell-out world tours. They put on an incredible show for a huge Harley-Davidson audience at European Bike Week 2018, and are now set to do the same again in Budapest. Not to be missed.

Glenn Hughes performs Deep Purple

Does anyone rock more than the legendary Deep Purple? How about Gary Moore or Black Sabbath? Rock & Roll Hall of Famer Glenn Hughes played with them all, but is most famous for his bass and vocals role with one of the UK's biggest-ever guitar rock bands. What a way to finish off the Harley-Davidson 120th Anniversary Festival in Budapest, with some truly iconic tracks set to be performed.

Larkin Poe

Grammy-nominated Larkin Poe are a roots and southern rock band fronted by sisters Megan and Rebecca Lovell. Originally from Georgia and now based in Nashville, the four-piece have released six studio albums and their harmonies and use of slide guitar have garnered comparisons with The Allman Brothers Band. Voted 'Best Discovery' band at Glastonbury in the UK, they are unmissable live.

Wolfmother

Right out of Sydney, Australia, Wolfmother have been stunning international audiences with stage shaking performances since 2004 – with lead guitarist and singer Andrew Stockdale's electrifying guitar licks creating an unmissable heavy rock soundscape. With six albums already under their belt, you just cannot miss this leg of their 2023

European tour.
