

Hell Boulevard

Founded in 2014 by Italian singer Matteo vDiva Fabbiani, HELL BOULEVARD began as a burst of ideas and a deep passion for gothic rock. The debut single “Hangover from Hell” set a clear tone right in the band’s founding year, and the self-produced debut album Inferno (2016) secured the band a solid place in the German gothic scene, leading to two support tours with Darkhaus and Unzucht within 24 months.

Their sound is a deliberate collision of hard rock riffs, a dark atmosphere, and rock 'n' roll energy, carried by frontman vDiva's deep, smoky voice, which also shines in live performances and captivates a growing community across Europe. Collaborations with Lord of the Lost, Erdling, Eisfabrik, and Faderhead followed, as well as support tours with Mono Inc. and appearances at the Amphi Festival and Dark Malta Festival.

HELL BOULEVARD are also bringing their fifth album on stage, “Made in Hell” (NoCut/SPV, April 24, 2026), produced by Matteo vDiva Fabbiani and co-produced by Chris Harms, mixed at Chameleon Studios in Hamburg, and mastered at Abbey Road Studios in London.
